Whitehall, March 19.

AN humble Addreſs of the Members of His Majeſty's Council, and the Aſſembly met at Charles-Town for the Province of South Carolina, the 15th of January, 1721. has been preſented to His Majeſty by John Lloyd, Eſq; Agent for that Province, introduced by the Right Honourable the Lord Carteret, one of His Majeſty's Principal Secretaries of State.

Which Addreſs His Majeſty was pleaſed to receive very graciouſly.

Lisbon, March 12, N. S. On the 3d Inſtant the Fleet from the Rio de Janeiro, conſiſting of 14 Merchant Ships, under the Convoy of two Men of War, entred this Harbour. They have brought to the Value of a Million Sterling in Gold Duſt, Gold Bars, and Moedas, and above eight hundred thouſand Pieces of Eight in Silver. The Rio and Bahia Fleets have Orders to be in a Readineſs to ſail for Braſil about the Middle of next Month. His Britannick Majeſty's Ships Dragon and Trial Sloop are in this River, from whence they are to carry a Supply of Money to the Forces in Minorca and at Gibraltar. The Winchelſea Man of War arrived the 26th paſt from Genoa, and was Yeſterday admitted to Pratick: The ſame Day came into the River His Britannick Majeſty's Ship the Durſley Galley from the Downs.

Turin, March 14, N. S. The Court is at Vercelli. The Preparations for the Princeſs's Reception are continued here with all Diligence. Madame Royale has on this Occaſion cauſed her Palace and Apartments to be adorned in a very ſumptuous Manner: The Front of that Palace towards the Square being new, wanted no Ornament; but that behind being Part of the Old Caſtle looks much decayed and ruinous, and anſwering directly the Street and Gate by which the Princeſs is to make her Entry, her Royal Highneſs has cauſed it to be covered all over with a thick Canvaſs ſupported by Scaffolding, which is ſo artfully painted that it preſents to the View a noble Pile of Architecture, not to be diſtinguiſhed at a ſmall Diſtance from a real Building. The 12th Inſtant being the Birth-Day of her Royal Highneſs the Princeſs of Wales, Mr. Moleſworth His Britannick Majeſty's Envoy Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary, entertained here ſeveral of the Nobility of both Sexes with a very fine Concert of Muſick, and afterwards with a Supper, where all the Company wore Leeks in Honour to the Princeſs and the antient Britiſh Nation.

Turin, March 18, N. S. The King and Queen with the Prince and Princeſs are expected here this Evening, and all Hands are at work in getting ready the Illuminations and other publick Demonſtrations of Joy. We have Advice that the Emperour's Treatment of the Princeſs as ſhe paſſed through his Territories was every where magnificent, but eſpecially at Milan, where the Governour himſelf attended by a very great Number of the Nobility went out to meet her Highneſs at ſome Diſtance from the Town: The Cannon of all the Imperial fortified Places through which ſhe paſſed were fired at her Entrance and Departure, the Soldiers being under Arms. The Republick of Venice deputed forty Nobles who waited on her Highneſs while ſhe remained in their Dominions: The Marqueſs de Martinengo entertained her very nobly and elegantly in her Paſſage through the Breſcian at two of his Houſes, which were illuminated on all Sides with white Wax Torches from Top to Bottom; and the Gardens were all adorned with Devices and Mottoes wrought in tranſparent Silk of various Colours illuminated behind: The Marqueſs had alſo ſent for ſome of the beſt Muſicians and Singers from Venice, who performed a fine Concert the firſt Evening, and a Paſtoral Opera the ſecond, with which her Highneſs was much pleaſed. Upon Advice of her Arrival near the Barrier, the Prince of Piedmont ſet out from Vercelli on Horſeback to meet her, accompanied by 24 Perſons of the Court appointed for that purpoſe, and by hundreds of other Gentlemen likewiſe on Horſeback, with a Detachment of Horſe Guards who received her at the Barrier from a like Detachment of German Cuiraſſiers. The Interviews between the Prince and Princeſs, and between their Majeſties and her Highneſs, were obſerved to be very polite and affectionate. They ſupped in Publick at Vercelli, waited on by a great Number of Ladies and of the Nobility from Caſal, Valence, and all the Neighbouring Towns; and this Evening will receive the Compliments here of the Nobility and other Perſons of Diſtinction.
